

BAN ON DRINK STANDS IS LOCAL TO TULSA?

Other Cities Can Get a "Shot in the Arm" and Tulsa Folks are Going State Because of no Coke.

Yesterday's Influenza Victims.

J. J. Johnson, no address.
June E. Ragle, 25, 210 North Xanthus.
Mrs. Burnett, 35, 59 North Guthrie.

A Tulsa man still swooned by the kick of a coke bought in a Muskogee drug store was at the World office yesterday protesting against the ban on the soda fountains in Tulsa.

Four Sapulpa people who came up to Tulsa last night looking for excitement were unable to get the exhilarating punch of a chocolate fountain and they too, were unable to understand why the fountain should be prohibited from serving soft drink fountain stands.

Muskogee and Sapulpa have their soda fountains going full tilt, and fountain owners in Tulsa are wondering if it wouldn't be possible to get out from under the ban put on by the city health department.

Macie Hightower said he thought that he was going to wait on the decision of the state board of health before he built another fountain.

It is a promise that by the middle of the week Doctor Duke, the present director might have something to say about the line of lifting the ban.

The influenza situation in Tulsa seems to little avail, though. No success is made to influenza and new cases are not available. But the death toll is easy to figure through the name of victims in the morgue. The three deaths yesterday do not seem encouraging, yet the drop from the high mark of 15 in one day shows that the disease is in its downward trend, and that it is probably well under control, but not wholly stamped out.

The last survey showed an average of 42 new cases a day for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. No figures were taken Saturday. The last survey will be taken Tuesday, but the same will be getting the figures by then as is deemed expedient to take one today.

The ban, however, is not based on conditions in Tulsa alone. The state board of health knows the situation all over the state, and while Tulsa might be wholly free from the influenza, neighboring towns are still in the throes of it.

While it is reported the Kansas state board of health has lifted the禁 in that state, in a majority of the mountain states according to news stories, were still under local quarantine, and every precaution was still being taken to control the public's infections.

In Tulsa, business has suffered a great deal. Theatrical managers have lost thousands of dollars, drug stores have no way to measure the losses they have missed, and other business is down.

The drug stores, if permitted to open their fountains, will probably be required to observe certain sanitary regulations as a matter of precation.

THOUGHT HIGHMEN WERE KIDDING, SHOT IN THE ARM

"Shut 'em up?"
"Go to hell!"
"Bank!"

Hospital bullet lodged in the bone of the left arm; doctors, nurses, police, exultant. The highmen escaped.

J. F. Everly, living at Hotel Tulsa had that sort of experience last night. In an instant two gun-toting men burst in to rob him. He thought they were kidding. Evidently they were not. Being nervous they pulled the trigger of the only revolver they carried, and that spilled the beans. They ran.

Home Talent Helped.

Home talent rallied last night in assisting the Camp Pike privates who are singing at Hotel Tulsa to raise money to buy piano as a distinct gift to Tulsaans to the 2,000 Oklahoma boys and their friends at Camp Pike.

PREDICTS G. O. P. HOUSE CONTROL

republicans fighting mad, and in every section they are going to make the best showing they can. Before the appeal of Mr. Wilson was issued there was republican apathy in many congressional districts. It is now apparent that republicans feel that their loyalty has been unjustly impugned, and that politics "without gloves" has been "recovered," not by them, but by Mr. Wilson.

On the other hand, the democrats think in many instances that the appeal of the president will help their candidates.

The Herald's report of its poll goes to predict the election of McLean McDonald, for senator from Illinois and of "commender" Newberry over Henry Ford in Michigan.

With the election of a republican house, the importance of the re-election of Congressman Chandler from an eastern Oklahoma point of view increases. Mr. Chandler is a member of the important Indian committee, and representing the most important Indian section of the United States, might be made chairman of the committee. In all events he would be a large factor in the Indian affairs, and many Tulsaans have agreed that this situation alone is the biggest political issue in the First district campaign.

A Car Demolished.

A car belonging to G. C. Zarwell, 1511 First Street, was badly damaged when it was struck by a Bellevue car late night at Norfolk and Fosteria. The owner of the car and his family were in the car, and they stalled it on the car track. They jumped and escaped injury.

DUE TO THE FACT that the electric current was out Sunday morning the early mail was not put up until 12 o'clock. Lights went out about 7 o'clock and remained a short time and then disappeared for quite a spell. This deferred the work in the post offices as the light is open to the fact that it is impossible to work without the assistance of artificial illumination.

EARNEST B. PARKER, Grover Russell and Tom Neilson were taken home from the hospital yesterday, convalescent from the "flu." The three boys are in the employ of the Standard Manufacturing Co., established and were taken to the hospital along with Frank Masters, another employee, who is not yet well enough to be moved. George E. Stanley, a member of the firm, was taken ill at the same time and removed to his home. He is reported much improved.

WHILE TOURING yesterday with a bunch of young folks, Miss Lyons of 1444 Main Street, was hit from the rear and severely injured. Information is that Miss Lyons was seated on the door of the car as the crowd was speeding toward Tulsa and as they crossed the tracks half way between that place and Tulsa via the Frisco, the young woman was thrown so violently that she sustained a strained back and other injuries. An ambulance was called and she was removed to a local hospital.

Rupture Kills
7,000 Annually

Seven thousand persons each year are fatal since the human vertebral system is not perfect. When the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the skin covering of the affliction and not the internal organs (which are you doing?) Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a false appearance or whatever name you choose to call it? At least the human body is not perfect—so you must be prepared to act in more than a mere meagre capacity. The leading pressure starts from the rectum, thus resulting in the most misery of all which they need not experience.

But science has found a way, and every time you go to a doctor you can get a FREE test right in the privacy of your own home. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and safe treatment for ruptures that the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO P.D. when adhesing closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place. It is a safe, safe, safe product. Safe as asbestos—in strength, in safety, in expense. To be used in hot sun work and whilst you sleep. No strap, buckle or cramp after use.
